Strong Cast Supports Fairbanks in New Play

"His Majesty, the American" Now Showing at Albambra Has Notable Players

"His Majesty, the American," Doug-las Fairbanks' new picture and the first release of United Artists Corpo-ration—the so-called "Big Four" s now being featured on the screen of the Alhambra theatre.

The production demanded not only very unusual and elaborate settings, which were provided without reck-oning the cost, but also called for an exceedingly strong cast to support Doug" in his journeyings through

As in the case of the setlings, Mr As in the case of the settings, Mr Fairbanks gave his director, Joseph Henaberry, carte blanche to secure Phil Gastrox, character men and darhe best talent available regardless of ing riders that they are, are also

The feminine lead is played by Marjory Daw who has now appeared opposite Mr. Fairbanks in six of his best productions. When it is remembered that "Doug" uses rather heroic measures to rescue damsels from distress, it will be understood that it requires some experience to play oppo-site him. In his new picture Douglas Fairbanks performs numberless miraculous stunts for the sake of the girl and so splendidly has she carried out her part in the picture that stardom

Great interest will attach likewise to the appearance of Sam Sothern in the production. Mr. Sothern is a younger brother of the famous E. H. Sothern and this picture marks his first venture in the "movies." Mr. Sothern is known throughout England as one of the foremost actors on the speaking stage and it is said that in this, his first screen appearance, he has delivered himself of a wonderful piece of character work.

Jay Dwiggins has a particularly happy part in the new picture. In several of Mr. Fairbanks' earlier pro-ductions, Dwiggins, who is short and fat and happy-looking, made a very delightful roly-poly foil for Douglas.

Albert McQuarrie, who is likewise not a newcomer to the Douglas Fair banks company, in addition to assisting Director Joseph Henaberry in the production, has an important part to
